Student Report – Love Year 2

Comments

Love is currently in the early stages of her English learning and is beginning to build a solid foundation in the language. She shows good enthusiasm in class and is keen to participate in activities, especially when it comes to speaking and reading. Love has already demonstrated some encouraging basic skills, and with continued effort she has the potential to make steady progress. Developing stronger concentration during lessons will help her take full advantage of the learning opportunities in class.

Speaking & Listening

Love enjoys speaking in class and is willing to try using English when answering questions or participating in activities. This willingness to speak is a very positive sign at this stage of learning. She listens to instructions and classroom conversations, and with greater focus she will be able to respond more quickly and confidently. Continued practice in speaking will help her build stronger fluency and confidence.

Reading & Phonics

Love shows interest in reading and is developing her ability to recognise words and basic phonics patterns. She is beginning to read simple texts with growing confidence. As she continues practising regularly, her reading fluency and comprehension will steadily improve. Her willingness to read aloud in class is an excellent way to strengthen these skills.

Grammar & Writing

At this early stage, Love is beginning to learn basic sentence structures and simple grammar patterns. She is developing the ability to write short sentences and express simple ideas in English. With more practice and careful attention during lessons, she will gradually build greater accuracy and confidence in her writing.

Personal Expression & Conversation

Love is enthusiastic when sharing her ideas and enjoys participating in classroom activities. Her positive attitude toward speaking and reading helps her practise English regularly. As her vocabulary grows and her concentration improves, she will become more comfortable expressing herself in longer and clearer sentences.

Overall Strengths

Love's willingness to speak, read, and participate in class is a strong foundation for future progress. She shows good enthusiasm for learning and is developing important basic language skills. Her positive attitude and readiness to try new tasks will support her continued improvement.

Recommendations for Improvement

Love would benefit from improving her concentration during lessons so she can fully understand instructions and practise new language more effectively. Regular review of course materials on the Universal English Academy website will also help reinforce vocabulary and basic grammar. With consistent focus and practice, she will continue to develop her English skills steadily.
